Paranormal & Occult Research Team

Anonymity Form

P.O.R.T. respects the privacy of our clients and will take the necessary actions to protect your identity if requested. We understand there are many reasons for anonymity, but P.O.R.T. reminds you that if anonymity interferes with documenting a paranormal event then we will lean to documenting the event over anonymity. P.O.R.T. will not privy the world to your information as well as giving your information away to third parties. If P.O.R.T. finds ourselves in a position with groundbreaking evidence that is sought by the media we reserve the right to make any business deals we see appropriate. Each member of P.O.R.T. has agreed to cooperate with these same definitions of anonymity. However, P.O.R.T. does not take responsibility for a rogue member who breaks the circle of trust. This system is solely based on the "honor system" with only our best intentions to uphold it. If our client has held investigations or any form of documenting of the paranormal occurrences at the requested location and this has been published (i.e. T.V., internet, newspaper, etc.) P.O.R.T. suggests you choose either Waived Anonymity or Partial Anonymity as the identities of our clients cannot be protected because of past endeavors. In an effort to provide you with the proper level of anonymity we have divided it into 3 sections: Full Anonymity, Partial Anonymity or Waived Anonymity. Definitions are as follows,

Full Anonymity: Blurring of faces, addresses and any other requested items in photographs or video. We will alter voices to disguise an identity in audio or video recordings. There will be no mention of geographic places that may undoubtedly tie it to your location excluding cities or town names.

Partial Anonymity: Customize what you want protected.

Waived Anonymity: No efforts will be made to protect our client's identity. Client gives P.O.R.T. permission to share all documented information.
